Australian Government Rebate on Private Health Insurance

Medicare eligible individuals who hold a complying Health Insurance Product may be eligible for the Australian Government Rebate on Private Health Insurance (AGR).

AGR Eligibility Criteria

The AGR is an income tested rebate available to eligible persons to help offset some of the cost of holding a private health insurance policy. In order to receive the AGR you must:

- ✔ Be eligible for Medicare benefits
- ✔ Have a household income that aligns with the thresholds set by the Australian Taxation Office

How to claim the rebate

To keep things simple for you, nib does not offer UnitedHealthcare Global members the option to collect the rebate as a premium reduction during the financial year. You can claim it through your tax return process.

The information we share with the Australian Taxation Office (ATO) will show the amount of rebate received throughout the year was zero, and should be available to claim through your tax return.

Important:

It is important to notify nib of any changes to your personal circumstances so we can ensure that there are no taxation impacts.

Please read this in conjunction with your product fact sheet and other relevant information that you would have received in your nib welcome email.
